TO BEAUTIFY HALL

On Monday, May 7, a board meeting for the Community hall was held in the hall before the council met. A committee was appointed for the beautifying of the hall grounds. This will consist of two members of Belhaven Women's Institute; Mr. Alvin Rye, and Reeve John Doyle, are appointed to assist on this committee. The members of the board were all present, Mr. Doyle (Reeve), Mr. R. J. Pollock (Deputy Reeve), Mr. J. E. Baines, Miss Mary Young, Mr. Percy Richmond, Mrs. N. Munro, Mrs. C. Cryderman, and Mrs. Wm. Winch, secretary treasurer.

HISTORICAL SIDELIGHT

Queensville P.O. Century Old

On May 15, 1851, the post office in Queensville was opened with Mr. Jas. Aylward as first postmaster. Mr. Aylward came to the village in 1828 as school master of the first school. After teaching for a number of years, he then kept a general store. At this time the village was called Hacking's Corners.

In the summer of 1843 a large temperance demonstration was held on the "plains" a little north of Holland Landing and as a new name was wanted for the village, Mr. Aylward's wife, the former Mittie Belfry, suggested the name Queensville, which was adopted.

Shortly after this, a request was made for a post office but it was eight years later that a charter was granted and the office opened in Mr. Aylward's general store.

Mr. Byron Aylward, a grandson, has in his possession the original charter granted 100 years ago.

During the 100 years the following have kept the office: 60 years by the Aylward family, then Wm. Kavanagh, Campbell and Featherstonhaugh, J. K. Duggan and our present congenial postmaster, W. T. Huntley, over 20 years.

The annual convention of the W.C.T.U. for York and Peel counties was held at Bolton on Tuesday, May 1. Mrs. Perry Winch, Keswick, is president and two carloads of ladies from here accompanied her to the meeting. The meeting was well attended, interesting and enthusiastic. Reports were given from the various societies showing that the women are well aware of the drink menace and doing all in their power to fight for secure measures to wipe out the evil, especially from Ontario. One of the chief speakers was Mrs. Craw, editor of the Canadian White Ribbon Tidings.

Mrs. Harold Pollard will hold her annual piano recital Monday, June 4, in United church. Assisting artist will be Miss Mary Carol Knights, contralto. Miss Knights of Toronto, formerly Queensville, is well known in this district. She was rose bowl winner at Kiwanis Festival 1951 and was recently a featured soloist in Harvey Parlin choir concert, Eaton's auditorium.

KESWICK

Keswick United church was filled to overflowing on Sunday morning for the family day service conducted by Mr. Perry Winch, Sr., Sunday-school superintendent, assisted by Rev. Campbell and teachers and children of the Sunday-school. A highlight of the service was the presentation by Mrs. Perry Winch, Sr., pres., York and Peel county W.C.T.U., of awards to children in public and high school who have written the temperance examinations set by the Ontario Religious Education Council based on the course of study in the public school health book.

The awards are made by the York and Peel county W.C.T.U. with the best papers being sent in to be judged in competition with the best from all the counties in the province.

Prizewinners were: Tommy Brown, Belhaven school, second prize, seven to nine years group; Carol Boothby, Keswick school, third prize, same group; Carolyn Serriek, Keswick school, first prize, ten to 11 year junior group; Peggy Carr, Keswick, second prize, same group; Peggy Carr also won honorable mention by the provincial W.C.T.U.

Ronald Pegg, Belhaven school, second prize, intermediate group; Lois Holborn, Sutton high school, third prize, same group; Eva Kay, Sutton high school, first prize, senior group; also sixth prize in the province of Ontario.

The course is a five-year one and those who successfully complete it are given a five-star sterling silver pin. Those who received their pins were: Marian King, Keswick, Lois Holborn, Eva Kay, Dennis Winch, Merlin Winch, Sutton.

Our Sunday-school officers and teachers are doing a wonderful work, but in the beginners department where they have an enrolment of 35, they are handicapped by the lack of a piano. Donations toward the purchase of a piano will be gratefully received or perhaps someone has a piano for which they have no further use. It can certainly be used by our beginners department.

Congratulations to Mrs. Cowieson, the pupils and teachers of the various schools represented for their fine work at York county musical festival held at Woodbridge last week.

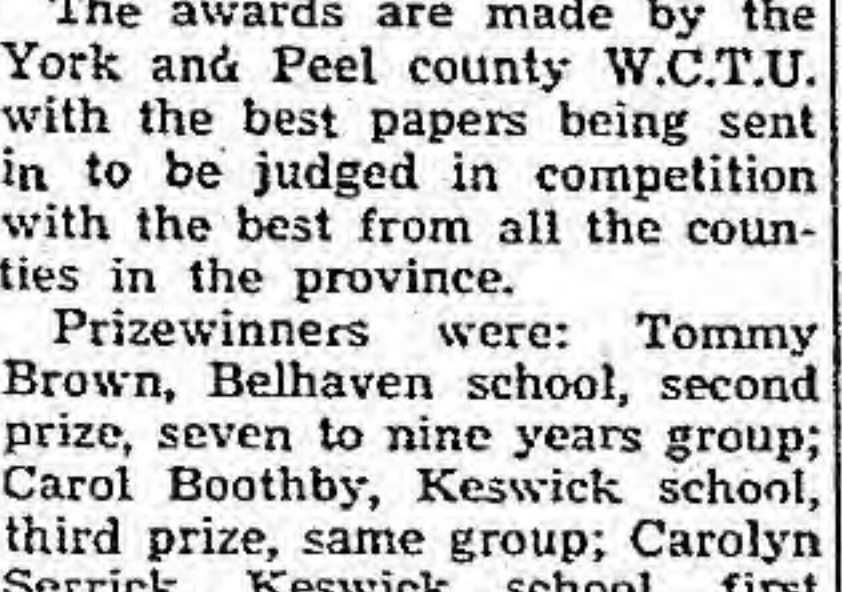

Miss Ruth Mary Winch, Niagara Falls, spent last weekend with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Waldon and family, Miss Florence Waldon, Mr. and Mrs. S. Harroon were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. Waldon.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Winch, Sr., visited Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Fockler, Markham, on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McEachern and Roubie, Cannington, Miss Doris Summers and Mary Morton, Moulton College, Toronto, were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Morton.

The pupils of the dancing classes of Aurora, Newmarket and Bradford have been working hard for several months getting ready for their first recital to be presented Friday, June 1, in the town hall in Newmarket. The mothers have been working just as hard on making the costumes while Mrs. Gordon Hayes, Aurora, has been making ballets.

The costumes for this show are really lovely from the tiniest little birdie outfit to the largest ballet. The senior girls who have finished their second year of work under the direction of Mrs. W. J. Landen will present a lovely Strauss waltz and will be dressed in beautiful ballets, six in blue and six in pink. The girls taking part in this number are Jillian Rickard, the soloist, Nancy and Jean Rowat, Stephanie Rourke, Nancy Beckwith, Pat Henderson, Bonnie MacCachin, Shirley Hayes, Marilyn Allen, Gail Woolnough, Carol and Jean Landen.

The program opens with nine tiny tots singing and dancing the nursery rhymes and they also will be costumed in ballets.
"Little Jack Horner" is being presented by Janet Hayes and Sally Corner. Carole Johnston will do "Mistress Mary", "Little Bo Peep" by Sharon Beattie and Natalie Woolnough. "Sing a Song of Sixpence" is being danced by Grovine Gage and "Jack and Jill" will be done by Jean Murray and Karen McGuinn.
Norma Hack will close with "Little Miss Muffett".

An attractive Dutch Waltz Clog will be done by Anna and Judy Morton, Margaret Mills, Colleen Cain and Maureen West and Betty Morton, all of Newmarket, and Bonnie MacCachin, Oak Ridges, and Shirley Hayes, Aurora.

A.H.S. CADET CORPS
HAVE BUSY WEEK

The big day for the Aurora high school cadet corps was on Wednesday, May 9. Major Dove and Capt. DeWitt were the inspecting officers. They were both pleased with the fine displays that they viewed. The boys and girls performed their physical education exercises.
There was a wireless display, a Bren-gun demonstration, and a precision squad of boys.

The band was in its usual fine form with that added touch supplied by the two new bell-lyrics.
pursion una arope vi tory closing speeches were held in the auditorium of the high school.
The route march was cancelled altogether.

Cadet Lt. Ross Linton was awarded the shield for the best troop. The shield is presented on behalf of the Green Howards Regt. of Yorkshire, England.
Cadet Lt. Peter Van Nostrand was chosen as the cadet who will go to Banff cadet camp for training this summer.

The biggest of all big nights was on Friday, May 11, when the cadets of A.H.S. held their annual cadet dance. This year there was the added attraction of the choosing of the cadet queen.
Mary Scott was the radiant queen; she looked lovely in her white formal as the head girl, Jean MacDonald, put the purple crown sparkling with rhinestones on her head. Mary was the 21 C. of C. squadron. The dance was well attended, some of the members of the cadet corps bringing guests from out of town.

The Aurora high school cadet band and a troop of cadets took part in the Youth of the Empire church parade from Jesse Ketchum school to St. Paul's church in Toronto, Sunday night, May 13.

The announcement by the trade minister, Rt. Hon.
C. D. Howe, concerning the trade agreements resulting from the Torquay conference was an important feature of the week in parliament. The minister announced that long standing trade barriers between Canada and the United States have been lowered on a long list of items. Canada obtained reductions on some 480 items and granted reductions of tariff on 261 items.

Important as the announcement is in itself, it is regarded as encouragingly significant of a world trend towards a lowering of tariff barriers and a more free interchange of world commerce.

Defence Program Defence estimates have been occupying much of the attention of the house. In his statement to parliament, the minister emphasized that the whole object of the great defence program is to preserve the security of our country. Our primary responsibility is the defence of our country against direct attack. All Canadians I think agree that the best place to defend Canada is as far away from our shores as possible, but they also realize that we cannot do it alone and that we must have allies with whom we plan and work.

So far as we can, we must continue to strengthen the democracy which is the object as well as one of the main bulwarks of our defence. The minister reaffirmed the government's intention to do everything we can to improve the level of our society, raise the standard of living and enlarge freedom and opportunity throughout our own country and the world.

Agricultural Department
The department of agriculture renders a wide variety of services to Canadian agriculture.
An important branch is the Experimental Farms Service.
The function of the Experimental Farms Service is to conduct experimental work in agriculture, and to make the results available for application by Canadian farmers. Established in 1886, this service, also known as the Dominion Experimental Farms, has been intimately associated with progressive developments in Canadian farming for 63 years. Throughout Canada the Experimental Farms have participated in the building up of the nation's agricultural industry.

The work of the Experimental Farms Service is conducted on the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa, headquarters of the service, and on 27 branch experimental farms and stations located in the principal agricultural districts of Canada. Each of the branch farms is provided with land, staff and equipment for experimental work on the type of agriculture prevailing in its district. In addition, work of a more local nature is conducted on substations, while the results of experiments and research are given local testing and demonstration on a network of illustration stations.

Co-ordination and supervision of experimental work is done by the director of the service, assisted by ten divisions, with headquarters on the central farm at Ottawa. Each division deals with a specific branch of experimental farms work.
During 1950 experimental farms work was in progress on

George B. Wales is in Sunnybrook hospital and there is a possibility that he may be there for some time. We have missed George on Main St. for some weeks and now, with the weather warmer and the home gardeners active, we remember how fond and proud George was of his melon patch. He used to grow in the office with word of their "tremendous" dimensions. We sampled his melons more than once.

George was an active member in the Newmarket Veterans and then the Newmarket branch of the Canadian Legion. We join with his friends in their best wishes to him.

Frank "Shorty" Keats was in the office about the old Anglican burial ground. Some years ago, he was one of a group who cleaned up the cemetery and until the war, he kept up the work. Last Saturday afternoon he put in four or five hours cutting down weeds.

In our books, there is a sound example of public service.

Shorty suggests that if the high school students are still willing to help, they join him on the 24th of May with their pruning hooks, hoes and whatever tools they need and finish off the job. Sounds like an excellent idea.

Police Chief Burbridge warns builders to keep a watch over their shingles. Last year there were many thefts from building sites in this district, and he says he has received word of a fresh wave of such thefts from south of here. The thieves go after shingles which are stacked around building sites. "Better keep them under lock and key,"

Chief Burbridge advises.

We'll risk the charge of cynicism to remark on this: The Toronto press has been reporting disclosures of the Ontario crime committee with a plauding headlines. We get the impression the papers share the committee's righteous shock when confronted with evidence of betting wires, runners, etc.

We cannot, however, reconcile this with reports in the same papers of latest weights and entries at the tracks. Indeed, on the second page of one paper, there was a report of a betting wire conviction but two columns removed from racing news. We cannot, for the life of us, distinguish between the information the papers print as news and the information passed over the so-called betting wires.

We have been particularly proud of the heavy volume of classified advertising the paper has carried in recent weeks. We knew that classified ads brought results because we have used them ourselves. We have record too of results beyond expectations within hours after the paper is published and from as far away as King City and Sutton.

But Wesley Squires brings in a note which surpasses all of the above. He is a steady advertiser of his antique business in the classified advertisements. Recently he received a letter of enquiry from a woman in New Brunswick addressed simply to his place of business.

As near as Mr. Squires can discover, her only source of knowledge was the classified page of The Era and Express.

MAINTENANCE COSTS

Mr. J. B. Waterhouse told the Newmarket town council that had minor maintenance work on paved streets been kept up during the last 25 years, there would not now be the extensive work that is required. Mr. Waterhouse speaks both as an expert and a citizen. He is an executive in the firm which is paving the streets, and he has lived in Newmarket some years. His comment lends authority to the frequent insistence in these columns that it is poor economy to reduce the town's operating budgets to the point of penury in an effort to hold down the tax-rate.

Mr. Frank Bowser, chairman of the roads and bridges committee, replied to Mr. Waterhouse that maintenance work had been kept up, that apparently it had escaped Mr. Waterhouse's notice. There has, of course, been considerable maintenance on the Newmarket roads. It is equally obvious, by the magnitude of the work being done by Mr. Waterhouse's firm, that such maintenance was not adequate. Mr. Bowser is also on the record as protesting this year's budget as false economy because it pared down the roads budget and reduced the amount of funds available for maintenance.

In 1950, the roads and bridges department, including market and property, spent $68,760. The same department is allowed only $47,600 this year. A breakdown of budgeted expenditures shows only $2,000 allowed this year against the $17,038 spent last year in the purchase of property. Wages are up $5,000 and this money is presumably spent in maintenance work, but budgeted expenditures on property show a decrease of $12,000.

There may be justifiable reasons for this decrease in what are primarily maintenance costs. A quick comparison of costs does not, as indicated above, suggest that this is so. Even if the 1951 budget permitted the same spending as 1950, there would be cause to doubt that the council is providing the funds for the maintenance work necessary to maintain the physical properties of the town. Newmarket is growing and it is reasonable to expect maintenance costs should be increasing and not decreasing.

If, as we suggest, there is a reasonable explanation for reduced budgets in this department, we should be pleased to record it. But in the light of Mr. Waterhouse's charge, Mr. Bowser's contention that the 1951 budget was "false economy", and the neglect so obvious in the years gone by, the conclusion remains that Newmarket is simply not keeping up its physical properties.

PROVINCIAL POLICE

The provincial police are now policing the township of Whitechurch. There is every possibility that still other municipalities in the district will place themselves under provincial police administration. There are obvious advantages to such a course, not the least of which is cost. Other considerations include the extent of provincial police resources, their radio system, equipment and training. Another advantage is that they are less subject to local pressure. The policeman of an area where he has been born and raised is under certain handicaps only partially compensated for by his knowledge of his territory.

The major disadvantage is that it removes police administration from the control of local council or commission. In specific instances, this is sometimes necessary. But as a general rule, the nearer an administration is to the people it serves, the better the government. Although the provincial police have decentralized their operation, the administrative centre is still Queen's Park, and that is a long way from the local municipalities.

The trend towards municipal services administered from a central office, we strongly believe, detrimental to the processes of self-government. Admittedly, there are many advantages in central authority. In Whitechurch, there is a resort area which needs policing and the cost to the township is out of proportion to the returns in taxes. The provincial police system removes that inequality. The fact still remains that Whitechurch, and any other municipality which lets out a municipal service to a centralized administration, is giving up a certain amount of its sovereignty.

The cause is economic. Local administrations can no longer pay the bills for the services now required of them. They are limited to property taxes for their income and it is inadequate. The provincial government assists by paying out extensive grants in almost every municipal department, but with each grant, there are conditions which local administrations must observe, and in doing so, they become little more than rubber stamps for provincial policies.

Strong local governments are the foundations of our system. Anything which reduces their authority is detrimental to that system. The trend towards centralization will continue, however, until our systems of taxation are revised to increase the revenues of local governments. That is not likely to happen; instead, the federal and provincial governments are jockeying for new fields of taxation, and the needs of local administrations are being ignored.

MARKETING CONTRACTS

Mr. Ross Armitage in a letter on the following page protests the validity of the conclusions drawn in an article on the wheat contract with Britain appearing in The Era and Express last week. The article argued against the value of such contracts as the wheat agreement, pointing out that the agreement cost wheat farmers many millions and became a charge on the public treasury, as well as imposing compulsory marketing upon the producers.

Mr. Armitage's criticisms are well taken. He points out that the only way in which the farmer can protect himself from the unwarranted fluctuations of prices for agriculture products is by the organization of marketing groups which can extend farm control over the way these products are sold. He cites several instances prices having risen and fallen for no apparent reason.

In principle, there is little difference between the wheat contract and the agreements sought, or already achieved, by local marketing organizations in domestic markets. The difference in practice is that the former was a five-year contract made on a commodity sold in international competition. Such a contract was, as experience showed, vulnerable to circumstances over which neither producers nor government had any control. These circumstances would not seriously affect short-term, local contracts.

Another difference is that the short-term local contracts are between producers and buyer with the government acting as referee, not, as was the case with wheat, acting as agent.

But while these differences exist to the advantage of the local marketing contracts, there are indications that such contracts will not serve their full purpose until some of the disadvantages of the wheat contract are imposed upon them. Specifically, a form of compulsory marketing. In discussion over the sale of milk, for example, the logical outcome of efforts to pool milk to avoid the two-price system is a form of compulsory marketing. Do farmers really want to trade their present methods of marketing, with all its faults, for fixed contracts and compulsory marketing? That seems to us the real issue.

THE VOICE OF EXPERIENCE

The Canadian Statesman
Bowmanville

Back in 1945 the Socialists took office in Britain as the result of a long campaign of explaining to the public that profits were the real trouble with our system of society; that, if profits were reduced and wages increased, then all would be well. In fact, at the time, the Socialists did not seem to have any understanding of the value of profits to anyone except capitalists.

Now, the British Labor Party has published a little pamphlet called "This Cost of Living Business," in which there is quite a different attitude. It turns out that profits are necessary. Corporations get out of their profits the money which they need to expand and re-equip their business.

If there were no profits, then the money for this purpose would have to be found from some other source. The pamphlet does not mention it, but the only source would be taxation.

In addition, what profits are left after this process, to be distributed to shareholders, are too small a part of the cost of any item to make much difference in prices. "Even if profits were eliminated altogether, there would still be a cost of living problem."

This is the voice of experience. Perhaps the British Socialists are still Socialist in theory but they at least have learnt something about how the world of business functions.

Indeed, they have learnt so much that they point out that the only cure for inflation is increased production, and the only palliative even for a short time is to stop all increases in wages, salaries and profits, as well as to impose higher taxation.

Do Canadian Socialists understand all this? They continue to argue that it is profits and not wages which cause prices to be high, but the British Socialists, after six years of experience, feel differently about it.

Office Cat Reports Catnips By Ginger

Mike Krobe, B.M.O.M.I. (Honorary Member of the Order of Moose Heads) has been threatened. Krobe, who is Cuttin' Corners' chief of its Crime Investigation Commission, was threatened last Tuesday night.

Krobe found a toad in his bed when he retired at 10:30. Attached to it was a note, "Next time it will be a snake". Although there has been a significant lack of evidence against him personally, the accusing finger points to Big Bing, the Landing King, notorious and popular gambler of the 20's who has returned after a period of inactivity at Kingston, Ont. He had been on a leave of absence.

Cuttin' Corners was shocked to learn of the threat against Krobe on Wednesday morning. The shock was so great that over at the Three Bools, the community barber shop, racing forms, previously hidden under the linoleum, were openly flaunted to customers. At the Academy, a few awagagging braves were placing penny bets on snooker games. Mike Krobe was worried. Gambling was once again running hog wild in Cuttin' Corners.

Krobe had been at the peak of his drive on crime when the threat came. He was in the middle of his expose of the radio license scandal.

"Radio license crimes must be stopped," said Krobe in a public statement recently. He brought about an astounding revelation, that even prominent Cuttin' Corners citizens were evading the annual purchase of radio licenses.

"These criminals go so far as to refrain from answering doorbells when the collector calls," he said. And now, since Krobe found the toad, people are again reverting to the shameful practice of not paying radio fees. One citizen dared to say that he wouldn't buy a license because he never listened to the C.B.C.

Meantime Big Bing, the Landing King, claims that his business goes on as usual. In an interview in his apartment over the Academy, Big Bing denied that he had any connection with the toad incident. "They say youse gets warts from toads," was his comment, "but that's a lot of stupid superstition. You really gets warts from eatin' thimble berries when the moon is horned." It was obvious that the big one was trying to lead your correspondent off the trail.

Mayor Maynot of Cuttin' Corners, in the meantime is wondering about the political value of his Crime Investigation Commission. Majority opinion has it that it is not vote producing.

"It's nearly half way through the year and elections will be coming up in December," the mayor said to your correspondent in confidence.

"The trouble with this probe is that too much crime is being heard of," he said. "It's getting out of hand. I am coming to the point where I believe one policy might better be to let sleeping crimes lie. A crime unexpressed ain't no crime at all."

"Cleopatra has no place beside the good woman," said Miss Emily Roseblade, Nottingham, England. According to a UP release May 9, a fight is going on between women. I don't have enough with the international situation about what kind of women will be portrayed in a pageant about famous women in the Festival of Britain.

Miss Nellie Smith, pageant author and producer, says: "Both sides must be shown or I resign."

Miss Roseblade says a notice should be put on the program, "Warning to women—be careful of any inference for bad." Miss Roseblade is head of Nottingham's most powerful women's organization.

Down with Miss Roseblade! Up with Nellie Smith! Who's to know about Cleopatra anyway, except that she was famous and good looking? If wild wild rumors can spread in our town in a few hours, what kind of rumors would you get in thousands of years of history? Maybe Cleopatra was head of Egypt's most powerful women's organizations. Who knows?

by "Dairy Farmer" The Top Six Inches

We had the privilege of driving a city cousin around the country last Sunday. This usually means the common kidding that goes on between people who get their milk from bottles and those who get it from the cow. We try to be tolerant and educate them—and an amiable weekend is spent by all.

However, we think that our nerves must be in bad shape or else the late seeding is affecting us, but this time we were definitely not too good a company and when our guest half jokingly pointed out to us some newly painted houses in the country and some late model cars alongside them and added "I cannot see why you farmers always cry—you are doing well enough on your milk business," we are afraid we blew a fuse.

We blew a fuse, not because we cannot stand our cousin twice a year for a day, but because this remark showed us so clearly to what extent it is our own darn fault that this kind of sentiment persists and how very truly it is our own organization which is at fault for not doing something to put the fact of the case before the public.

When the red haze finally settled and we got the car back on the right side of the road and finished counting to ten, we let go with what we hoped was our most convincing argument. We asked him if he thought farmers should live in unpainted houses and drive model T Fords. We asked him if he felt that farmers weren't entitled to a normal return on their investment and inquired if he thought that his idea of a farmer is a kind of Mortimer Snerd or a man who works long hours with more lazard than any ordinary business, and does it from inner compulsion, and a love of fresh air.

We proved it to him, we hope, that the only reason we got by was that it doesn't show when you don't get returns for investment or depreciation on your equipment or when you only get your meals and roof over your head instead of what the average weekly wage is in this country, around $48 per week.

Well, here it is. Only we are wondering why our directors don't go on the air and tell it to everybody. Why they don't make an effort to address service clubs and other gatherings and why they go around blind instead of stating the real arguments of the case. Our city cousin is one of a million we supply milk to. It will take us some time yet to tell the other 999,999 people we are selling milk to. We strongly suspect that unless somebody wakes up and soon, we won't get enough money for our milk, until we do tell them all. Only we don't think the Milk Control Board will wait quite that long with their decision. After all, they will vote for mayor in Toronto before that.

THE OLD HOME TOWN By STANLEY

ANSWER ON WHEAT

The Editor: We wish to answer "Lessons of Wheat Deal" (an editorial in last week's issue on the conclusions to be drawn from the wheat contract with Britain). After the first world war, we tried wheat farming in Saskatchewan. Before harvest wheat prices at the local elevator were around $1 per bu., No. 1 wheat. When the new crop came on we were offered 40 cents per bu.

Wheat prices fluctuated from 40 to 60 percent. This caused the wheat farmer to adopt collective selling. Some 30 years ago the Ontario milk shipper had difficulty with prices under individual selling. This inspired the whole milk association.

Few, if any, of these farmers would wish to return to the individual system of selling. In March this year farmers visited packing plants and were told that pork prices, then at $35.75 per 100 lbs., were coming down. The week of April 15, Toronto hog prices were $29 per 100 lbs. dressed weight. In less than 20 days time, hog prices again reached an all time high of $36 per 100 lbs. The receipts of hogs, Toronto yards, week of April 15, were 1,650. Last year, in the same week, 3,950 hogs. The sharp fluctuation in hog prices is the cause of the hog producers asking for a central selling agency.

Low prices for eggs in the summer and poultry in the fall have caused the poultry men to organize. The price of $1.40 per bus. offered for Ontario wheat last harvest as compared to over $2.00 now has caused the soft wheat board to organize. All farm commodity groups have been working with the Ontario Federation of Agriculture to have an amendment to the Ontario farm marketing act. This amendment has been passed and will give farm people more control of their farm produce.

The writers, Atkins and Young, stress the farmers' individual right. Why should farmers buy the goods and services of others in a closed or controlled market, pay the cost of production carrying charges plus a profit, and the farmers sell their own goods and services on an open or competitive market and often are not paid the cost of production.

From the cradle to the grave we must depend on others. Individualism is not workable in our present day economy and social order. It is only a waste of time for any one to suggest that the farm people work under an open competitive price system while the rest of the people have a closed or controlled price system.

Ross Armittage,
R. R. 3, Newmarket.

FARM TARGET

The Editor: I think that was a particularly apt and timely pictorial story in your May 3 issue, showing friend Stalin standing at one side of an orchard wall and holding a basket into which the winds of "U.S. Disunity" were blowing the ripe fruit needed for "Red Propaganda", as he exclaims delightedly: "Makes Fine Applesauce!"

The principle itself, of course, is as old as war and human controversy; all through the years since Cain struck down his brother - it has been pressed into an adage: "Divide, and rule!"

To the extent that the above technique is also at work in an economic sense, to that extent I believe that urban organization in the market-place must be (and should be) balanced by rural organization if the primary producers are to get onto something like an even keel in their bargaining power with that of their city customers.

For example, there was an item in one of the Toronto dailies only yesterday dealing with the price of milk, from which I quote a few lines: "Farmers in the Toronto area are paid $4.20 a hundredweight for milk taken on a quota basis. They are paid $2.85 for secondary milk. Milk used for making cheese brings $2 a hundredweight. Under a new agreement farmers now will get $3 a hundredweight for either 'quota' milk or secondary milk, as long as it is used for cheese."

The question in my urban mind is simply this: As between the above various classifications of milk, is there any difference in the respective quality standards? It would be very nice if one could buy an automobile on this basis - i.e., with the price tag graded downward according to the use for which the bus is desired? But what a hope! Why not one valuation for all milk of equal quality? It seems to this city slicker that here is a decent target for organized farmers to aim at!

Editor's note: They have been aiming at that target for years.

Did you know that we carry one of the finest grades of paint on the market today? Many satisfied customers can testify to this. Unlike many stores of our kind, we do not have a paint made down to a price but sell a high grade paint (which we can guarantee) at a price well below the prevailing price of paint of similar quality. This is the third year we have been selling this paint and giving complete satisfaction. For example, one contractor in the past two seasons used over 1,200 gallons of our paint and is again using it this season.

This should speak for itself. We can offer you interior and exterior paint at $4.50 a gallon or $1.45 a quart. Our aluminum paint is only $1.50 a gallon. We still have a quantity of surplus paint in quarts consisting of: floor varnish, cream enamel, interior semi-gloss grey at $1.25 a quart, also a quantity of Glidden's Mezzotone at $2.95 a gallon. Another feature is a general purpose paint in red only, suitable for barns, fences or implements at $2.95 a gallon.

We believe we have the finest assortment of work boots at the best possible prices to be found in the district. Our assortment of pants is large, sanforized denim work pants at $3.49, sanforized khaki drill at $3.95 and many other work pants at $3.95, top grade gabardine dress pants at $7.95 and work shirts from $1.95 to $2.95. We also have a special on Sport Shirts this week at $2.95 regular $3.50. We invite you to drop in and see the many other outstanding values, too numerous to mention. May we also remind you that we are still the home of CENTRAL CLEANERS.

CORR. MRS. L. E. ROLLING, PHONE KING 8

A veteran of the second world war, Sgt. Major David O. Judd, 36, of King has enlisted in Royal Canadian Armoured Corps, attached to the Infantry Brigade. He goes to Camp Borden this week for a short time, to be transferred either to Petawawa or Wainwright, Alberta. He earned the Long Service Medal and Bar and in six more years, will be entitled to the new Canadian Army Medal.

The soldier has a long record in army service. Twenty-seven years ago, at the age of 9, he belonged to a cadet corps in Aurora, under the late Major Henry Taylor. He still has the breeches he wore as a junior cadet in 1924. A junior cadet for six years, he joined the senior 12th York Rangers 1936-1940 when the Queen's York amalgamated with the Rangers.

In September, 1940, he joined the G.O. 139 in Toronto for one year and was sent to North Bay to teach the N.C.O. school for the fourth division. In 1941 he enlisted with the Manitoba Dragoons at Shilo, leaving Canada on Aug. 28, 1942, for overseas where he served until the close of the war, sailing for Canada Aug. 28, 1945. Judd was enlisted in the Queen's York Rangers Reserve Army in February, 1947, until May 8, 1951.

Major Judd has been married 15 years, has three children, Glenn, 13, a member of First King Scout group, Carol, aged 9 and Dales. His wife, Hilda, belongs to the Ladies' Auxiliary of King Legion branch.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman B. MacMurchy (Louise Follitt) of Weston are proud parents of a daughter, Helen Mae, born on Thursday, May 10, at Humber Memorial hospital, Weston. The baby is named Helen, after Dr. Helen MacMurchy, a cousin, in Toronto. The second christian name, Mac, was given the baby to honor her aunt, Mrs. Donald MacMurchy (Mac Follitt) of Hillsburg. The child's first cousin, Charlie MacMurchy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacMurchy, celebrated his 11th birthday on May 10. On Sunday the four grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Follitt of King, Mr. and Mrs. Charles MacMurchy of Hillsburg visited the mother and daughter at hospital.

Miss Margaret Cull has returned home after staying with her sister, Mrs. Garnet Ash of Holland Landing, who was in York County hospital, Newmarket, for several days suffering from pneumonia and pernicious anemia. Mrs. Ash is improving in health.

ST. PAUL'S W.A. GIVES 'BON VOYAGE' GIFT

The Evening Branch of the W.A. of St. Paul's Anglican church, Newmarket, held a Dorcas meeting at the home of Mrs. A. Elphinstone on Monday, May 7. There were 14 present. Mrs. Bert Budd presided.

A "bon voyage" gift was presented to Mrs. J. T. Rhodes by the president on behalf of the group. Rev. and Mrs. Rhodes and children plan to leave the first of July for a two months' trip to Britain. At the close of the busy evening, dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

KETTLEBY W.A. HEARS TALK ON 'PRAYER'

The W.A. of the Kettleby United church met in the hall May 1, with the president, Mrs. L. V. Heacock, presiding, assisted in the worship period by Mrs. N. Blatchford, Mrs. R. Geer and Mrs. F. Billings.

The main business under discussion was the church floor and the 24th of May play. This year the play comes from Cookstown. The title is "Uncle Josh Perkins", a comedy, which has been well received in many previous presentations. This will be in the hall Thursday evening, May 24.

Mrs. Ray Marshall supplied the special music, a piano selection, entitled "A prayer for peace". Mrs. J. Black spoke on "Prayer".

She said "Prayer is the golden key that opens the door to God's resources and we must not let our own unworthiness keep us from prayer. It is our heritage. The question is sometimes asked 'why do my prayers go unanswered?' One reason could be our unforgiving hearts. If we hold iniquity in our hearts we can not expect to be answered.

"A full prayer life comes only with a concentrated desire to do God's will. We should always be in the attitude of prayer." Mrs. Black closed with a poem by Arthur Tubbs.

Mrs. Heacock closed the meeting by use of theme hymn and prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. Reg Bice, Maple, were Sunday guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elias Bice. Auxiliary Expresses Thanks

The results of the bingo season conducted by the ladies' auxiliary of King Legion branch have not only netted substantial returns, they point to community wide interest in the work of the auxiliary and the broad outlook it maintains in its own special field and its part in district life. Mrs. Beryl Fleet, president, not only expresses thanks to her organization and the committee in charge of the bingos, she is grateful to everyone who has made this project a worthwhile goal. Beginning in January through to May 9, the average attendance was approximately 75 per night. There are those who have never won a prize at any of the bingos, yet they have never missed a bingo night.

Many from outside points including Aurora and Newmarket have been consistent players. The local merchants have given the bingo committee every advantage of good value in prizes, with liberal donations as well. Profits of a sizeable sum, around $200, will be used in the King community for whatever projects are deemed advisable, said Mrs. Fleet. The hard-working committee was Mrs. Fleet, Mrs. Hazel Campbell, Mrs. Clare Walker and Mrs. E. Cummins present the organization is at (refreshment convenor). At present the organization is arranging committees to work with the Legion for the annual carnival to be held on Wednesday, Aug. 15. Plans for a Legion building are still progressing, officials state. At the third anniversary of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Aurora Legion branch, held there on May 9, Mrs. Beryl Fleet, local president and president of the auxiliary zone area, extended greetings on behalf of the zone to Aurora. A large representation of the East York organization made up a gathering which welcomed Mrs. Long, provincial president, and Mrs. M. Richardson, sec.-treas., provincial command. Others from here were Mrs. Annie Bice, Mrs. Clare Walker, Mrs. Disley, Mrs. Jean Wood, Mrs. Cummins, Mrs. Hilda Judd and Mrs. Elva Robb.

Miss Jessie Gellatly visited her sister, Mrs. A. Smith of Toronto, on Sunday.

Mr. Peter Clark was on hand at King C.N.R. station last Friday morning to see the victorious Barrie Flyers enroute to their home town. The Flyers cheered; so did Uncle Peter.

Mrs. Frank J. Armstrong attended a choir banquet given by the Deacons of First Avenue Baptist church, Toronto, last Friday evening at the church. She accompanied her daughter, Miss Dorothy Armstrong, who is organist and choir leader in that church.

Mr. Floyd Burger, with his wife and children, Douglas, Janet, Buddy, Tony and David, motored from their home in Barrie to spend Sunday with Mrs. Burger's mother, Mrs. Arthur Wellesley.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Moore and daughter of Toronto visited Mrs. Moore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bayless, on Sunday for Mother's Day.

King W.I. executive and conveners met at the home of Mrs. Harvey Follitt, on May 11 to

TO PLAY ORGAN AT RURAL RALLY

This morning and afternoon, May 17, Mrs. Cedric Willis will be the accompanist at the Rural Rally, Toronto Centre Presbyterian, at the United Church, where she was organist and choir conductor for over 25 years.

An old resident, and one of the best-known citizens of Aurora, Mrs. Willis began her musical career at the early age of eight years, when she played under the baton of Mr. C. Thorne, choirmaster at the Methodist church, Quebec city.

In later years Mrs. Willis studied at Eaton Memorial church under A. D. Jordan, and also took a course in choral interpretation at the Royal Conservatory of Music under G. D. Atkinson.

Among her many musical activities, Mrs. Willis was accompanist for a large Aurora choral society under the conductorship of H. M. Fletcher of Toronto. One of the concerts given by the society was performed in the Mechanics' Hall, with two grand pianos and an organ in use. She was also assistant accompanist to the Richmond Hill choral society, under the conductorship of J. Earle Newton.

Mrs. Willis was also accompanist for the former Aurora Male Chorus, under the conductorship of F. A. McDonald.

Accompanist, teacher and choirmaster who has enjoyed many successes with pupils over the years, Mrs. Willis is justly proud of the fact that her Aurora choir taking part in the York Musical Festival won first place for three successive years, carrying off the Permanent Shield prize.

In 1938 Mrs. Willis originated the first of the Christmas Candlelight services, which have been an annual feature at the United Church for the past 13 years.

Contributory to her retirement from official duties was the fact that in November, 1946, Mrs. Willis had the misfortune to break a wrist. For six weeks following the accident she succeeded in carrying out those duties with one arm in a cast. Many of her innumerable friends will be present at today's Rally, to give Mrs. Willis a hearty welcome. The programs for the Rally contain many attractive features.

Dr. M. E. R. Boudreau officiated at the marriage of Norma Irene (Betty), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross McGuckin, Newmarket, and Mr. G. Henry Harrison, son of Mrs. Isaac Pegg, Mount Albert, and the late Mr. Merritt Harrison, at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church manse on April 25.
A reception was held at Bell's Corners following the ceremony, attended by 50 relatives and friends.

INSTALL OFFICERS OF HOME, SCHOOL

The Newmarket Home and School Association will hold its annual meeting and installation of officers at Prince Charles school Tuesday, May 22, 8 p.m. Rev. J. T. Rhodes will be the guest speaker.
Field and track medals and general proficiency cups will be presented. Choral selections by groups of school children under the direction of Herman Fowler will complete the program.
The installation of officers will be conducted by Mrs. I. LeMasurier, vice president of district four, York Home and School council. The meeting, which is the last of the season, is under the direction of the Religious Education convener, Mrs. J. T. Rhodes. A cordial invitation is extended to attend.

SCOUTS, CUBS PLAN OPEN NIGHT MAY 25

A parents' night will be held in the Scout Hall on Friday, May 25, by the Newmarket Scouts and Cubs. The boys will present a demonstration of their work with the program beginning at 8 o'clock.
Light refreshments will be served by the Mothers' Auxiliary. A cordial invitation is extended to all parents of Scouts and Cubs to visit the Newmarket Scout company and Cub packs on this evening.
Please note change of date from May 18 to May 25 because of the public school presentation of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs".

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

The Masonic Lodge will attend service at St. Paul's church, Newmarket, Sunday, May 27, at the 11 o'clock service. Today the afternoon and the evening branches of the W.A. are attending the 32nd annual conference of the denistry of West York, held this year at Trinity church, Bradford. The flowers in church last Sunday were from the Sunday-school to commemorate Mother's Day. Being the third Sunday in the month, there will be Holy Communion at the 11 o'clock service as well as at 8.30.

CALL TO SCOTLAND
Miss Peggy McDonald, as a Mother's Day gift, presented her mother, Mrs. C. E. McDonald, with a telephone call to her mother, Mrs. Wm. McPhee, Glasgow, Scotland.

BY GEORGE HASKETT
Newmarket Sports Editor

Our No. 1 port of call this week was the Miami Greens. To take your shopping list in hand these days, you wouldn't think anything was free but after seeing and hearing the winter bowlers talk shop, display good fellowship, shake hands after a hotly contested end, you come to the conclusion best things in life are free. President Lyman Rose and secretary Frank Courtney paint an encouraging picture of Operation Miami as the season rolls to a close.

Earlier in the gloaming we spent an hour with a healthy flock of young buckaroos as our Rockets wound up the season around the banquet table at Bell's Corners. Naturally talk veered to hockey next season and one conclusion was that president Frank Johnston, Clarence Sainsbury, Sen Cook, Gordon Stephenson and Al Bryson are all for a return go at junior hockey. The boys and executive members just about keeled over sponsor Frank Johnston, the Queensville weekend dairyman, with a presentation of a t.v. lamp set.

Third bit of sunshine plucked out of the ozone concerns three trophies the Newmarket Manufacturers Association have offered for town league competition. Three sports they have in mind are softball, hockey and bowling, alley bowling that is, for inter-factory competition.

The association is displaying a keen interest in the town sport picture. That's good. At the expense of a repeat performance, we like the idea of town league sports—gives a flock more guys and gals a chance to get on the ball diamond or the hockey cushion than is otherwise possible.

Challenges: Here's one we want everybody to take up. There's considerable activity behind the scenes for floodlights and good news in the offing, reports Chas. VanZant, chairman of the floodlight committee last year. Open meeting next Tuesday in the council chambers at 7.30 p.m. Want every softball follower and player to make it a must. That's you too, girls.

Brought back a challenge from Keswick last Friday. Keswick's basketball five want a crack at Joe Dales' Optimist hoopers. Keswick chappies, by the way, are making full use of the arena there as a recreation centre. Have it marked out for basketball, volleyball and the ball team has even had a practice inside. Last Friday, and every Friday for that matter, there is dancing and dancing lessons are also given.

Charlie LeGood whispers they have a ladies' softball team at the Specialty and passes on the info it's looking for competition. "We'll take on any other factory team," reports coach LeGood. You ladies listening at Dixons, Davis, Sangamo, Hofman or Newmark Lingerie? Any takers?

Hear via the grapevine Aurora bowlers from Benny's Alleys have heaved out a challenge to their Newmarket opposites. After the sputtering had subsided among a few of the local lights, we interpreted their mutterings to mean "We'll take those guys on from Aurora anytime—name your poison".

Hub and county notes: Bingo, bingo, bingo! Gord Hare, coach of the Keswick junior ladies' softball team, will try to sock a few bucks in the kitty with a bingo in Keswick arena this Friday.

Mick Smith gives out with a nice picture on the Sunnyhills dance last Friday. The Sunnyhills men are now angling for equipment for a playground in that neck of the town.

Spits closed the hockey books Thursday with a banquet and dance in Aurora. Everyone present voted it a grand success. Congrats are on the order paper for headman Geo. Byers and his associates for a job well done with the Spits over the past season. 'Tis said hockey moguls will gather shortly to put their house in order for next winter.

Simcoe softball league teams are reaching into our midst for coaches. Bob Peters has taken on the job with Hope. Pine Orchard is hot on the trail of Mick Smith to once again take over that important spot w/i'them.

Aside to the Lake Simcoe softball teams. After ten sleepless nights and 40-hour work, completed the schedule. It's now in the hands of president Ross Chapman and Irving Arnold. The Queensville rector is looking after the printing of the schedule this year, via the Era and Express.

If you're a hankering to look at the best track and field stars, take a trip up the N.H.S. next Wednesday for Eckhart Trophy competition between Aurora, Richmond Hill and Newmarket.

William Lundigan and Susan Hayward are the young couple very much in love in Twentieth Century Fox's Technicolor romantic drama, "I'D CLIMB THE HIGHEST MOUNTAIN", coming soon to the ROXY THEATRE, NEW-MARKET.

News Of The W.I.

News for this column must be in the office Monday night. Copy must be written as briefly as possible and confined to news and reports. Other than routine reports and announcements will be printed separately.

The district annual meeting of the Women's Institute will be held in Pefferlaw on Tuesday, May 22. There will be a chartered bus leaving town at 8.30 a.m. and will pick up passengers at Sharon and Queensville.

The Vandorf branch meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Graham of Sharon on Thursday, May 10, with 48 ladies attending. We were pleased to have several ladies of Sharon at this meeting.

Mrs. H. C. Powell, the president, presided. Business consisted of final arrangements for catering to the Whitechurch Conservation Club banquet and it was decided to still continue our relief fund for the little Greek girl. Also our decision on the Co-Operative program was thoroughly discussed.

Mrs. Harold Dewsbury, convener of Historical Research and Current Events, and Mrs. H. A. White, convener Community activities and public relations, gave their reports on their trip and conference at Guelph. They reported a very worth while trip. Mrs. Ramsay of Sharon spoke a few well chosen words. The meeting closed with the singing of God Save the King, and a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Cameron McTaggart, Mrs. Rollie Scott and Mrs. Grant Morley.

The Mount Albert branch held its May meeting May 10, in the Community Hall with the president, Mrs. Donald Stiver, in the chair. Roll call, "Why I am a member of the Women's Institute" was well answered by 22 members and four visitors.

Belhaven's invitation was accepted for October meeting. There were 20 letters of appreciation from Boxes for Britain which were jointly packed with Women's Association and other organizations. On tag day $85. was collected for the blind.

Mrs. Herb Harman and Mrs. Harold Broderick were elected delegates to attend District Annual at Pefferlaw May 22. Any one wishing transportation contact Mrs. Stiver. The district co-operative program was decided. "You and your citizenship" was first choice.

Mrs. R. Cupples and Mrs. W. Rate sang a duet "It is no secret".

Community activities and public relations convener, Mrs. W. Steeper, introduced Mrs. Norman White, Brooklin, who had attended the conveners' conference at Guelph. She gave us a very interesting talk on better citizens and public relations. At the conference Miss Lewis showed films of historical sites in Ontario and a resolution was suggested that the Women's Institute ask the Department of Agriculture to assist in teaching about the historical sites in Ontario. We do not know enough about our country.

Public relations, is what the Institutes are doing and publicity is what we say about it. The Institute has advanced from branches to areas, districts to provincial, and now we have an International Federation of Country Women of the World. What does the world think of the Institute and what do you tell them. The aim of the Institute is a more abundant life and deeper appreciation of what is at hand.

"Let us be large in thought, in word and deed, and O Lord God let us never forget to be kind" is the motto for a better citizen. A piano solo by Ruth Rutledge was much enjoyed. A lovely lunch was served by the hostesses Mrs. Ed Haigh, Mrs. W. Rate and Mrs. R. Cupples.

Union Street branch met at the home of Mrs. Irvine Rose on Tuesday, May 1. There were 20 members present and several visitors. Mrs. Archie Sedore, the president, occupied the chair. Many suggestions were given in answer to the roll-call, "How I can help my president". A donation of $10 was given to the blind. Mrs. Ernest Burgess was appointed delegate to the district annual at Pefferlaw, Tuesday, May 22. A prize is being given to the Institute having the most members present.

Mrs. Oliver Diceman, convener of the program, gave an interesting paper on "Citizenship and Education". A poem was read by Mrs. W. Micks on "Friendship". Piano solos were given by Betty Rose and Carol Sedore. Mrs. Callender read an article on "Everyday Citizenship". Mrs. Roy Cowieson gave current events.

Mrs. Bosworth gave a talk on education as it began in England almost 200 years ago and from which our present system has developed. Mrs. A. Cowieson and pupils of S. S. No. 9 entertained with music, the entire group singing "May and June". Solos were given by Gwen Knights, Donna Sedore, Eddy Martin, Carol Sedore, Doris Knights, Patsy Leach; triple trio, "Woodland Lily"; triple duet, "The Fairies". The program was much enjoyed and Mrs. Cowieson deserves much credit for the excellent way in which she conducts her pupils. An enjoyable afternoon was brought to a close with the National Anthem followed by a lovely lunch served by the hostesses.

MECHANICS' HALL

An end to the prolonged discussions about the Mechanics' Hall was reached at the last general meeting of the Aurora town council when a majority vote of five to eight decided its sale to the Aurora Lions club for $2,500. The tender to purchase at that sum was submitted in a letter presented to council at its first regular meeting of the year on January 8.

The minority, composed of Councillors Corbett, Fielding and Jones, were opposed to the sale of one of the town's capital assets and not, we understand, to its control by the Lions club. Our understanding is that the minority favored the leasing of the hall to the Lions on a long-term basis.

The payment of the sum of $2,500 is no more than a token payment. The Mechanics' Hall was valued at $10,000 in the auditor's report for last year. Its value has remained at that figure for many years in town reports, although it is obvious that, having regard to constant increases in property values in the last decade especially, its actual worth is far beyond the figure of $10,000.

The Aurora Lions club has secured the hall at the price mentioned for the fundamental reason that it will be used as a community centre, for the citizens of Aurora as a whole. The Lions club will hold its own meetings there, and subject to that condition it will be a meeting place for all other legitimate town activities.

We take the greatest pleasure in the knowledge that the Mechanics' Hall has once more come back to the citizens. We have written many articles in support of what is now an accomplished fact, in face of much opposition. Events have justified a course which we knew the majority of the citizens strongly favored.

CONDITIONS OF SALE

Three offers were made by the Lions club for control of the Mechanics' Hall. (1) The original offer to purchase for $2,500; (2) Offer to rent at $100 per year long term lease; (3) Offer to rent at $100 per year short term lease, on termination of which council to pay cost of improvements less ten percent per annum.

And here are the conditions on which the town council sold the hall to the Lions: (1) The club will operate and maintain the Mechanics' Hall as a community building; (2) The building will be rented at cost to the charitable and recreational organizations of the town of Aurora; (3) At any time, should the Lions club be unable to fulfil the above conditions (1) and (2) of the terms of sale and/or be desirous of selling the property, then it will be required to obtain consent of council regarding the disposition and future use of the property and buildings known as the Mechanics' Hall.

Without any reservation at all, we think that the town council is very deserving of commendation in the drawing up of such conditions of sale. By the terms of the sale the town council has preserved the Mechanics' Hall for the future citizens of Aurora.

A careful study of the operating clauses will show that the sale of the hall to the Lions carries with it conditions that protect it from being used for any other purpose than that of its use as a community centre. Should the conditions of sale not be fulfilled, the hall would in those circumstances revert to the town.

In 20 or 25 years' time members of the Lions club, for many reasons, might wish to dispose of the property. Under the wise provisions of the conditions of sale, the future disposition of the Mechanics' Hall is secured for the people.

THAT WEEKLY HOLIDAY

There are no signs at present of the likelihood of an agreement among Aurora merchants for a full-day weekly closing of stores. From what we hear, it does seem almost certain that no agreement will be reached.

Our information is that the last meeting of merchants decided to set up a committee to confer with the retail committee of the Board of Trade; and some merchants are of the opinion that such a move was a mere stalling of the problem.

Why should it be necessary to refer such a question as a full-day closing to the Board of Trade? What can the Board of Trade do about it if the merchants themselves are not in agreement? The Board of Trade does not, fortunately, possess the power to issue a fiat one way or the other. The Board of Trade, we hear, has its own domestic problems to overcome, especially in the sphere of internal harmony.

The closing problem is one for the merchants themselves to argue out and decide upon, after which they would go to council in search of another of those multifarious bylaws to effect enforcement. Our information, however, does not hold out any promise of an agreement among the merchants.

Some merchants want to close on Mondays; others on Wednesday; and some of them do not want to close their stores on any weekday, either half-day or full-day. While such disagreement exists no unanimity is possible. And such disagreement is not likely to be dispelled even in the more rarified atmosphere that circulates through the corridors of the Board of Trade.

The Main street druggists, Messrs. Hess, Morning and Willis, have a fine working agreement among themselves, the system has worked in successful cordiality. Why cannot other merchants reach such an admirable concurrence?

Aurora held its annual high school cadet dance last Friday evening and Mary Scott was crowned Queen of the Ball. A cadet captain herself, Mary was chosen by members of the executive of the student council and cadet instructors for loyalty, deportment and co-operation. The girls' and boys' cadet corps annual inspection parade was held on the previous Wednesday. Jean MacDonald, head girl, above, is placing the crown on the queen.

KNOW YOUR MERCHANTS

Whitelaw's

"The greatest change I have seen in the town of Aurora, during the past 23 years," said Mr. Whitelaw, "is the generally fine spirit of co-operation that exists today, in contrast with what existed when I was taking an active interest in town interests. This is particularly so among our merchants, who are good rivals and good friends, and who will help each other out at all times."

Towards the end of our chat with the subject of this personal sketch, we had asked for an opinion on changes that had taken place in Aurora during the nearly quarter century of Mr. Whitelaw's residence, and business life, here. We thought the change indicated above was worth giving first place in this review, in answer to Aurora's anonymous grouse.

We have known Mr. Whitelaw personally for a considerable time; but only after we had had this close-up conversation with him did we realize what a varied and interesting life he had enjoyed. And it came to us as a very great surprise that, in his earlier life, he had qualified for and practised the professions of druggist and pharmacist.

Early Life
Born at Woodstock, Ontario, the youthful Whitelaw ("Bev"), to his friends and intimates was apprenticed as a druggist after leaving school, for a period of four years. Following this he went to New York to take a position in a drug store, afterwards attending a College of Pharmacy from which he graduated. He spent four years at the college.

From New York he proceeded to St. Louis - drawn there, he admits, because of the appeal of the World's Fair. At St. Louis he obtained a position in a drug store, and spent a further five years in the profession. A far more fascinating interest than either drugs or the World's Fair decided another move he was to make. That move was to Toronto, and the supreme attraction was Miss Lena Bolton of St. Mary's, Ontario.

Not only did young Mr. Whitelaw make a geographical move; he also made a business move and became sales manager for Hurst Company Ltd., representatives of the famous firm of Charles Goodall and Son, of London, England, wall-paper and stationery manufacturers.

Forms Own Company
The head of the firm, Aubrey Hurst, died in 1922 and the business interests were transferred to the management of Mr. Whitelaw, who shortly afterwards formed his own company, under the title of Whitelaw, Dickenson and Company. Of this Company Mr. Whitelaw was president.

For the following six years "B.G." was constantly travelling on behalf of his Company. Coast to coast in Canada, twice yearly, with repeated visits to England, France, Switzerland, Italy and Austria. The strain began to tell; and also Mr. Whitelaw yearned for a return to home life. To attain this desire, and also for health reasons, he sold out his interests in his Company.

His next move was to Aurora, where he purchased the business originated some 50 years earlier by the late Marshall Forsyth, to which Mr. Whitelaw gave the name - Aurora Book and Music Shop.

March of Time
The Forsyth business was at that time located in the premises now occupied by Chester Osborne. There Mr. Whitelaw remained for five years, until his location in the premises he has used for the past 18 years, and which formerly were a gent's furnishing store, operated by Mr. Herman Gilroy.

One of the outstanding highlights in the Whitelaw store is

What They Are Saying In Aurora

They are saying that it was a great night at the seventh anniversary of the founding of the Aurora Lions Club, held last week. The past presidents Frank Underhill, Charles Copland, William Morris, Clifford Spence, Marshall Rank and Archie Cousins, reviewed events during their years of office; and the tail twisters followed on by reviewing the past presidents.

The impersonations of the past presidents, so successfully done by the tail twisters, was one of the outstanding highlights of an evening of highlights, which included a turkey dinner and two beautiful birthday cakes, the latter being gifts from Cousins dairy and Scanlons.

There was much favorable comment on a brief but impressive speech made by Lieut. Robinson of the Salvation Army, who gave a detailed outline of the objectives and work concerned with the Red Shield Campaign.

Lieut. Robinson is a most likable and efficient young man, whose abilities are likely to carry him far in the great organization in whose service he has dedicated his life.

District deputy-governor, Dick Edmunds, was present at the Lions anniversary to conduct, among other duties, the installation of the 1951-52 officers of the club. That he conducted these proceedings with enthusiasm and impressiveness no one who knows the deputy-governor would doubt.

We have heard the obligations of Lionism imposed on initiates in more than one Lions club. Never have we heard them imposed with greater solemnity and clarity than when it was our privilege to witness the ceremony.

How an Iron Fireman

This flat, whirling flame gives more heat with less oil

Ordinary gun-type oil burners enclose the flame in a pit where much of its heat is wasted. Iron Fireman's money-saving Vortex oil burner blankets every inch of heating surface with rich radiant heat. Saves you up to 30% on oil.

CONVERT YOUR OLD FURNACE OR BOILER, OR INSTALL A SELF-FIRED UNIT

Why pay for heat you're not getting? An Iron Fireman Vortex can be installed in your present furnace or boiler in just a few hours—and then watch your fuel bills go down, home comfort go up. Complete self-fired Vortex units are available too. Exclusive Iron Fireman automatic controls. Phone or write this week sure, for a FREE survey.

Council Sidelights

The last meeting of the town council, on May 7, was a very good one for some reasons. For other reasons it bogged down. It's good and bad qualities were 50-50. We shall examine the picture as we proceed; but for our many new readers we would first point out that "Council Sidelights" was a feature that we introduced into Ole Man Banner, and maintained it there (with occasional pieces nipped out by the "unseen hand") until the aged gentleman toppled into the lake of laissez faire on All Fool's Day, April 1, 1951.

"Council Sidelights" represent an effort to evaluate the work of the Aurora town council, meeting by meeting, and to give one man's opinion of what goes on. Often we praise council; sometimes we criticize it; but at all times we try to be fair, having no favorites on that august body of local experts.

When Ole Man Banner toppled, or was pushed, into the lake of laissez faire on All Fool's Day, we fell in with him. Many spectators of this sad scene, friends and foes alike, thought we were finally submerged in the swirling waters and would never rise again. But we arose above the foam, and espousing the sunlit shores of Era's AURORA NEWS PAGE, we swam and made it. And here we are, with our packages of "Council Sidelights".

Mayor's Nice Gestures

We had not been to council since March 19, while Ole Man Banner's obituary papers were being signed. We did feel a little strange as we made our way to the press table, after such a lapse of time. The two chairs at the press table were already bespoken, and we saw no vacant seat for ourself. And then a pleasant thing happened.

Mayor Alex Bell, first citizen and chief magistrate of Aurora, himself carried a chair for us to sit down on at the press table. We thought this was a nice gesture after our enforced absence. We thought of the prodigal son and of the welcome he received on returning home. Although there was no killing of the fatted calf, the mayor did, at a later stage in the proceedings, most kindly offer us a soft drink. We thank you, Mr. Mayor, for these kindnesses.

And when the session immediately afterwards began, we got our pencil and some small strips of paper ready. And here began "Council Sidelights".

Mrs. Thelma Fielding is Aurora's first woman councillor. For the first sessions she had little to say. Now she has become vocal. What is more important, Mrs. Fielding is proving herself a good councillor. She has an eye for essentials. And when she has made up her mind on what she thinks is good for the town, Councillor Fielding does not allow herself to be talked down.

Deputy-Reeve Jim Murray, chairman of the streets committee, has greatly advanced in the confident handling of town problems since we first began to report Aurora council news. He presented an excellent report on roads and sidewalks, consisting of 21 recommendations. He revealed that he had an intimate understanding of what he was talking about.

Aurora's Churchill, tough and testy Vic Jones, will not vote for anything with which he is not strictly in accord. So, although from the first he was in favor of retaining the Mechanics' Hall as a Community centre, he would not vote for selling the hall to the Lions. What he favored was leasing the hall, not selling it.

However, our view is that council (as outlined in our editorial on this matter) handled the problem of the Mechanics' Hall to the best interests of the citizens. Although they have sold the hall to the Lions club, the terms of sale protect the future interests of the town. Council deserves commendation; and if Councillor Gundy is the author of the motion concerned with the sale of the hall, he, too, deserves commendation for the wording of the transaction.

Councillor Gundy

We like youthful Councillor Gundy. He has ability, and much ability still in its embryonic stages. He should make great headway in public life—if he will discipline himself in certain essential directions. One of these directions is a tendency to over-elaboration. There is always a time to stop.

We thought he would never stop on Monday night, after he got underway on the question of whether or not the town should buy seven acres of land in the possession of Mr. Ross Linton. Seven acres for $2,500, on the westerly end of Tyler and Lepper streets. Suitable perhaps for a little park, or what have you.

It seemed as though Councillor Gundy must have talked for three-quarters of an hour, with map spread on the council table. He spoke with the oratorical vehemence of a practised auctioneer, trying to find a buyer for a 1,000-acre farm. He felt the purchase would be in the best interests of the future of the town. We thought the interminable sales-talk would never end. But, of course, it did. All rivers run to the sea—or so they say.

Ross Linton's Land

And what was the over-indulgent chairman, Mayor Bell, doing all this while? Mostly he was leaning forward, his head buried in the palms of his hands. Sometimes he would raise himself from this recumbent posture and meekly protest that "the town had no more money to spend on land at the present time". Then the mayor would comfort his head again in the kindly embrace of the palms of his hands.

What the mayor should have done was to bring his gavel down with a bang on the council table, saying: "No more money to spend. Next business please." When will Mayor Bell begin to use that gavel? Not on the head of this reporter, but on locquacy that serves no useful purpose. There was no more money to spend. That was all there was to it. Then why not an end to the matter?

Of course the planning board had had a word or two on the subject of Mr. Ross Linton's land; here is the board's report on the seven acres of land: "That in view of the application of the owner to sell property abutting the westerly end of Tyler and Lepper Sts., it is urgent that council decide on a right of way for street purposes to connect the present ends of Tyler and Lepper Sts. and Kennedy St. As this board sees the problem, it is simply that now is the proper and strategic time to obtain such a right of way and in this connection to attach a sketch showing alterations the board recommends."

But there wasn't enough money in the town kitty, so the matter was deferred. It could be that Mr. Linton will offer the seven acres of land to the town as a gift, and have his name immortalized as the donor of "Linton Park". Stranger things have happened than that!

Talk, Talk, Talk
Land! Why there's any amount of it around. There's that parcel of land which the public school board bought last year at a cost to the taxpayers of $4,400. The land adjoining Kennedy St. What will they do with that? Perhaps make a park of it in years to come? Or use it as a factory site in the promotion of Kennedy St. industries? What a report that would evoke from the planning board. A "strategic" report. The planning board loves big words. In fact if you take the big words away there's not much left.

And, believe it or not, there was further protracted talk on buying more land, which would have cost the town $5,700, as its quota of expense. The land near the new high school area, which the agricultural society wants as a park. "Too many debentures already," exclaimed the mayor, as once again he buried his head

What They Are Saying

vilege to hear deputy-governor Dick Edmunds conduct those ceremonies. He can be very serious when the occasion calls for it.

Dick Edmunds is a great personality. No meeting is ever stale where he is present. He is a fountain of energy and enthusiasm, and his laugh is a tonic for the downcast and the dyspeptic. He is a great Lion and a great Scout, in which latter organization he received some time ago a high honor. Of the Scouts, the greatest of them all, of course, is King George Vth. As Duke of York, our King gave a great deal of time to the Scout Movement.

It has been our pleasure to have known Mr. Edmunds for some years; and it has given us sincere pleasure to write the foregoing, which we hope to enlarge on at an early date, when a due occasion arises.

For 1951-52, Deputy-governor Dick Edmunds installed the following officers at the seventh birthday celebrations of the Aurora Lions club: pres., Harold N. Pringle; 1st vice-pres., W. MacGill; 2nd vice-pres., Dr. A. W. Boland; 3rd vice-pres., Stan Walker; sec., Wyatt Baldwin; treas., C. Copland; tail twisters, W. Davidson and Tom Dickson; Lion tamer, Lambert Willson; directors, Don Glass, Ralph Tucker, E. H. Stoltz and Cameron McTaggart.

AURORA NEWS takes very great pleasure in wishing the new officers of the Aurora Lions club a happy and successful year of office.

We read a line or two to the effect that Lion Jim Landen, former general manager at Harts, was leaving Aurora to return to the United States. The information was inaccurate. Mr. Landen, who now holds an important executive position in Toronto, will, fortunately, continue to reside in Aurora.

Jim Landen achieved outstanding results while general manager at Harts. He has the knowledge, ability and energy to climb still higher in the business world and is a man of genial and attractive personality. Success has not spoiled him, as often happens with men of lesser calibre.

Next to Lionism, we believe his greatest interest is golf. We are glad that the note by the columnist was inaccurate, and that Mr. Landen is not moving away from Aurora.

The Aurora Lions Club will hold its annual festival of fire works and fun in the town park on Victoria Day, Thursday, May 24. We hope the weather will be propitious and the event prove a great success.

Aurora town council decided by a vote of seven to two to appoint a third constable. His salary is scheduled to be $29 per in the palms of his hands.

But the talk went on. "Talk, talk and no more money in the town kitty for land purchase. 'We can't afford to buy it,' came the pleading tones of the beleaguered mayor. And then, from out of the blue, came this prescient observation from finance minister Councillor Pringle, "Can we afford not to buy it, Mr. Mayor?"

No more money in the kitty. So the end of the discussion was the decision to have a report from the planning board. Report on what? What on earth is the good of having a report on something you can't afford to buy? There's no more money in the kitty. But there'll be a report from the planning board, ponderous and "strategic". Holy mackerel! That planning board's word "strategic" hits us right in the solar plexus.

"No more money in the bank." Years ago there used to be an old song that went like that. Stool of Penance.

The hours sped away and the post office clock coughed out midnight. There was a feeble effort to get an adjournment motion through. But it failed and the talking was to continue. The town clerk appeared to be "all in" and his devoted assistant seemed to be giving the boss compassionate looks. Ourselves, we were also tired out, following a long day. Besides, we had left our wife not feeling too good.

So we decided to quit this scene of continuing locquacy, which, we understand, was prolonged a further half-hour, mainly devoted to ditches and water mains; and a request that the Newmarket town council petition the Aurora town council to endorse action in opposing a new registry office.

Our final impression: considerable good work was carried through at the council meeting of May 7, but that it could have been effectively speeded up if the mayor had used his gavel, not, as we have said, on this reporter's head, when talking reached the superfluous point.

It's no use whipping a dead horse. And it is apparent that there's no more money in the town kitty to buy more land this year. We wish, however, the council could spend a few dollars on cushions for those damnably hard chairs. No wonder councillors got irritable. After four hours our own chair feels more like a stool of penance rather than a reporter's accommodation!

week, plus cost of living bonus.

We have been noting a change of layout in the business premises of that well-known Aurora, merchant, Stu Patrick. The change effected provides more space for Mr. Patrick's large clientele. Former councillor and member of the Aurora Fire Brigade, Stu Patrick is one of the most popular of all Aurorians. He is, of course, on our list of "Know Your Merchants". Mr. Patrick is well known for the strength of his opinions on a variety of town and other matters. He is one of those fortunate men whose worldly situation enables him to care not one hoot about what anyone thinks of his opinions, forceful or otherwise. It is a good situation!

We include ourselves among Chester Osborne's well-satisfied customers, having sampled his excellent merchandise even before we came to reside in Aurora. Vivacity might describe Mr. Osborne, who is nothing if not constantly cheerful. His ready wit dispels the doldrums and cheers the downcast. Time passes. He has moved around in his present store for 21 years, 16 of which were in the capacity of an employee, and another five as owner of the store. He tells us he was at one time associated with Mr. Herman Gilroy, former Aurora merchant, to whom reference is made in our B. G. White-law close-up.

Naturally, Mr. Osborne is on our list of "Know Your Merchants."

In the 21 recommendations contained in the report of the streets committee, chairman of which is deputy-reeve Jim Murray, the following clause was deferred for further consideration by council: "That the condition of Yonge street, north and south, is very bad every spring and is becoming a greater hazard every year, and your committee feels that council must make a decision as to the future of the street. Are we, the town, going to look after it or should that part of Yonge street belonging to the town be turned over to the province?"

At present the cost of upkeep is fifty-fifty as between the town of Aurora and the provincial government. Having regard to the heavy traffic passing through the town, whose only connection with Aurora is that it uses a highway which the town must partly maintain, Mr. Murray is not satisfied with the present set-up in maintenance costs. We understand he is of the opinion that the province should sustain a heavier load of the costs.

The subject will come up again in council.

Small House Plans

THE CORNWALL has reduced construction costs to a minimum by eliminating waste space, simplifying both the floor and roof framing and choosing a plan without expensive corners and projections. It is built as a three bedroom plan that is essentially suitable for a narrow lot.

An L-shaped living room forms a dining alcove next to the kitchen. An additional space for dining is provided in the kitchen.

Eight closets are well placed throughout the house, including the linen cabinet in the hall. Other noteworthy features include the efficient kitchen with cabinets on opposite walls, book shelves in the living room, complete circulation between rooms and full basement.

Exterior finish is siding with a touch of stone in front, wide eaves and asphalt shingles.

Dimensions are 24' x 42'. Floor area is 1,017 sq. ft., with cubage totalling 19,831 cubic ft.

"CHARMING FANTASY"

Former Newmarket Girl Has Own Play Presented

"The Green One", a children's play written and directed by Alexandra Belugin Finn, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Belugin, Newmarket, had its premiere recently in Saffern, New York.

The junior members of the Antrim Players presented it twice in March to enthusiastic audiences for the fourth production of the Antrim Players' 18th season. In the cast was Mrs. Finn's three-year-old daughter, Terry. Mrs. Finn also designed the costumes.

This original three-act drama was described by reviewers in the Rockland County Journal-News and other New York state newspapers as "a charming fantasy" and "Everything about this children's play had the sparkle and drawing power of a priceless gem. It was perfection in miniature." Mrs. Finn's "sensitive direction" was credited in part for the excellent performances turned in by the cast.

"The Green One" is the story of the release of the unhappy people of "As You Like It Land" from the evil spell of Morono. This is accomplished by the intervention of two children at play, the Green One and her helpers, the Green Murphys, Mopwash, Lord Wagonbottom and the Ghost Squad. The merchants, sages, citizens, soldiers, in fact all the people of "As You Like It Land" rejoice in Morono's itching discomfort at the sight of green, and the restoration of Aladdin's beneficent magic.

On Wednesday, April 18, Alexandra Finn was interviewed over a radio station in Monsey, New York. She gave a 15-minute autobiographical sketch of her career. Since then, she has completed a role in Noel Coward's "Ways and Means" with the Antrim Players and was guest soloist at a performance sponsored by the Rockland County Symphony orchestra. Meredith Wilson acted as master of ceremonies.

Alexandra studied voice under George Lambert, Toronto, for four years after an earlier four-year period of study with local teachers. She took two years from Mr. Mowe, dean of music, Columbia university, and is still studying under his guidance.

Alexandra's lessons in dancing and drama were begun at the age of two by her mother. She continued under her mother's tutoring until school age. Alexandra studied dramatics with Mrs. C. S. Baker, Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto, for two years, receiving her diploma.

When she was 14, Alexandra had a role in a Toronto production of Der Fledermaus and sang for six weeks on the Goodyear Tire Co.'s radio program from Toronto studios.

While studying under Mr. Mowe, Alexandra had a role in the French comic opera by Mchule, "Terrible Temper" which ran for an entire week at the Columbia University theatre. She has continued her interest in music, drama and dancing since her marriage.

Hardy Finn, Alexandra's husband, was on the teaching staff of Bugby Teachers' college prior to becoming principal of Camp Hill school, Cananda, Monsey, New York. Both of these educational institutions are affiliated with Columbia university.

GIVE $27 TO WORK OF LEGION LADIES

The sum of $27 was contributed to the Newmarket Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion by two local ladies, Mrs. Geo. McComb and Mrs. Bert McCannan. Neither are members of the auxiliary but undertook to raise funds for the group by holding weekly euchres at the home of Mrs. McComb during the winter.

The pair acted as joint hostess at these Wednesday afternoon parties providing their own prizes. At the May 3 euchre and cribbage party, which the auxiliary held in the Legion Hall, the presentation was received from Mrs. McComb and Mrs. McCannan. Mrs. Sheridan, euchre convener for the auxiliary, thanked them for their generosity to the group.

The Common Round...

By Isabel Inglis Colville

JUST SNATCHES

Mother's Day has come and gone and I'm sure none of us begrudge the honor done to those who made glad our childhood and whose love followed us as long as they lived—and I believe still follows us from beyond "the silent sea".

But without taking away anything from Mother's Day, let us remember that it is also the Day of Pentecost when the Holy Spirit came to the waiting followers of their risen Lord. In these lovely spring days, everything reminds us of the outpouring of God's love—the benediction of the sun, the incense of the flower scents, and the springing into life of dormant things.

Spring is like a parable based on the coming of the Holy Spirit. Is there anything lovelier than to drive through the country when spring is landscaping and painting? The sky is so blue, the fields so green and the trees misty with a golden haze. These all spread out in sumptuous loveliness as Archie, Hilda and I journeyed towards Beaverton one night last week in Mr. and Mrs. Blossdale's comfortable car.

We had checked and rechecked violins, stands, music and lights, for to leave any one of these behind spelled tragedy. Being sure of our tools, we settled down with a concerted sigh of contentment and watched the technician "Spring".

Arriving at Beaverton, we found Mr. Ward and Mr. Sleigh stringing wires and gadgets, incomprehensible to the unlearned eye, but which presently resulted in lights—and where, I ask you, would any of us have been without these two geni of the lamps?

We found a very fine hall and a well equipped stage where Mr. Hagan's finely painted backdrop showed to great advantage.

We were minus two violins so the remainder had to work extra hard, but when you love the work, that doesn't count.

There was not as large an audience as had been hoped for, but what was lacking in members was made up for in appreciation. Have you ever had occasion to think about audiences? You can usually tell from their first re-action whether they are going to be hot or cold or lukewarm. A warm audience can lift the artists to new heights. A cold one can kill a show and a lukewarm one leaves the trouper in just as don't carish a temper.

There were one or two changes in the program—Terry Doane sang the ever popular "Old Man River" with orchestra accompaniment and Murray Huntley sang, with full dramatic effect, "River, Stay 'Way from Ma Door".

Apart from these changes and "So Long" and Gene McCaffrey's and Ang West's song being made to fit locally, the program was the same which delighted Newmarket audiences for four nights.

Mr. Eves said a few words of greeting to the Lions club members of Beaverton and then we were packing up to say goodbye to the minstrel show for another year.

JEAN WALKER WEDS GEO. VAN NOSTRAND

A wedding of local interest took place in Riverdale Presbyterian church, Toronto, on May 5 when Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, became the bride of George A. van Nostrand, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. van Nostrand, Vaudorf. Dr. A. Gordon Macpherson officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white lace over taffeta and carried a bouquet of white roses and sweetpeas.

Her attendants were her sister, Mrs. Horace Bowen, Toronto, and Miss Marion van Nostrand, Sudbury, sister of the groom. They wore similar dresses of nylon sheer over taffeta in pink and pale blue. Their bouquets and matching headresses were of roses and sweetpeas.

The best man was Mr. Michael van Nostrand, cousin of the groom, and the ushers were Mr. Jack Walker, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Robert Anglin, cousin of the groom.

Following a trip to Parry Sound and Ottawa Mr. and Mrs. van Nostrand will reside in Vaudorf.

A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL—If you're like me, one of your favourite pastimes is visiting friends—and being visited. And one of the nicest gestures I know when friends drop in is to serve them coffee 'n' cake. But be sure the cake is fluffy, tender—completely delicious. You can be sure when SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR is your chief ingredient! The superb evenness of Swans Down makes cakes that are fluffy and tender. Sifted and resifted until 27 times as fine as ordinary flour, Swans Down makes cake-baking success a certainty! Try Swans Down Cake Flour soon—for cake at its superb, company-mannered best! Mail your request for "Learn To Bake, You'll Love It"—an 80 page booklet full of recipes—to General Foods, Limited, Dept. K, Cobourg, Ont. Send your name and address and 20c in coin.

It Just Seems like everyone's talking about Personal Planning these days.

Not only are my friends intrigued by this new system of family financing, but I frequently hear it being discussed on streetcars and buses, too. Folks are beginning to discover that it works. As Marie said the other day—"You don't go uselessly wishing for more income when you've discovered what Personal Planning can do for the income you have!" Yes, you'll find that Personal Planning is wonderfully rewarding in making your money go further—do more. Why not try it? Pick up a copy of "PERSONAL PLANNING" at your neighborhood branch of the BANK OF MONTREAL today and find out how perfectly—with this system of money control—you can tailor your income to suit your needs and wants.

Look At That Porch Floor! Certainly, after its undue share of snow and rain, mine needs a good paint job! How about yours?

Here's a tip—use SHERWIN-WILLIAMS Mar-N-Porch and Floor Enamel and you'll not only get a glossy, durable finish... but it dries dust-free in four hours. Yes, you can walk on it overnight! Inside or outside, it's good for wood, concrete and cement floors. I know, because I've used this fast-drying enamel on my upstairs floors. You should see the gay "new yellow" colour in my hall! Floors need a tough, self-resistant paint—that's why it really pays to always use Sherwin-Williams Mar-N-Porch and Floor Enamel. Colours and quality are both good.

Planning A Bridge Party?

Ever noticed how good coffee makes good refreshments taste even better? That's why RED ROSE COFFEE is always a "must" on my bridge-party refreshment list. You'll know from the first sip that Red Rose Coffee is quality coffee! You can always, always count on its good taste. So when the bridge club meets at your house—or when guests drop in—do make sure it's Red Rose Coffee you serve! But don't serve it only on special occasions—make Red Rose Coffee a family habit, too. And when you're buying Red Rose Coffee, ask for Red Rose Tea as well. It's every bit as flavour-wise as Red Rose Coffee!

Here's Something You Can Be Sure Of!

One of the most economical and delicious desserts you can make is a JELL-O PUDDING. Many's the time I've pleased the family's sweet tooth with a creamy Caramel, velvet-smooth Vanilla, flavoured Chocolate or rich Butterscotch Jell-O Pudding. And for just a few cents a serving! Jell-O Puddings are marvelous time-savers, too, and make desserts that can be prepared in a matter of minutes. And when you want a specially good tapioca dessert, don't forget the Jell-O Tapioca Puddings—Orange Coconut, Vanilla and Chocolate.

Oak Ridges Jr. Horse Show Praised 'Highly Successful', Youngest Rider 2 Years Old

The Oak Ridges Junior Horsemen's Show at Hawman's Wheel House on Saturday met with unqualified success when nearly 500 enthusiastic spectators witnessed outstanding performances by youthful riders. It was the first show presented by Oak Ridges Riders who were organized by Miss Marilyn Hawman little more than a year ago.

Mr. Jack Cusack, Cookville, riding school, termed it "the best junior show he had ever seen". The co-operative spirit was marked, he stated. As judge, Mr. Dave Humphries, Toronto, trainer for the Cottrell stables, performed a difficult task. Mr. Clayton Ruby and Mr. Wilfred Hood, trainer of the Ruby stables, were enthusiastic in their comments. They said Mr. Humphries' fairness and patience in judging was unexcelled. Every competitor was given an equal chance.

Ponies were brought by Mr. Ruby, Mr. Cusack, Dr. Bovaird, Brampton, and Trixie was loaned by Mr. Lloyd Mott, Toronto, for the show. Others from Thornhill, Newmarket and the Hawman stables made an entry of 35 horses. The club's president, Anne Rowe, aged seven, delighted the audience with her riding on small and large horses.

The largest class of 20 entries, in maiden equitation, was won by Clayton Ruby, age nine, on Sir Charles owned by his father to take the Patricia Laurie trophy presented by R. J. Woolley. Because of the number of entries the competition was divided into senior and junior sections. In the senior division Don Christian, Sutton, rode his Town Casino to place second; Fashion Parade, third, owned and ridden by Beverly Rogers, Thornhill; Aghavrin, fourth, ridden by Faye Russell, owned by Mrs. Robinson, Newmarket.

Junior division, Princess of Lexonville, ridden by Wendy Rogers, owned by Clayton Ruby; Trixie, ridden by Anne Rowe, Oak Ridges, owned by Lloyd Mott; Burlington Bertie, ridden by Penny Slipp, Cookville, owned by J. Cusack; Nancy, ridden by Joan Pelouquin, Oak Ridges, owned by Bobby Acheson.

The well filled costume class was won by John Woolley, seven, Oak Ridges, riding his club's "Teddy" for the H. A. McLean prize presented by Miss Hawman. John was dressed as a "skunk". Costumes ranged from an 18th century lady to an Indian fling arrows. In this event Ellen Gallagher, seven, Oak Ridges, spilled from her pony but re-entered the ring to place fourth. She was loudly cheered by the crowd. She rode the Lloyd Mott pony, Trixie. Second was Patsy Pal, owned and ridden by Teddy Rogers; third, Daphne, ridden by Pauline Paul, Richvale, owned by Oak Ridges Riding club.

The lead line class for children seven and under had 18 contestants, with prizes for each rider given by Oak Ridges club. Brenda Ruby on Princess of Lexonville placed first for the H. A. McLean prize; second, Patsy Pal ridden by John Coon, owned by Rogers; third, Cream Puff, ridden by Frances Paul, owned by Oak Ridges Junior Riding club; fourth, Midnight, ridden by Gordon Rowe, owned by Oak Ridges club.

Youngest rider in this class, Bobby Bovaird, aged two, presented with Aurora Banner cup by Mrs. D. Barker.

Other classes were: small riding pony, Markham Roxy theatre trophy presented by Mrs. E. C. Hawman, first, Silver ridden by Billy Bovaird, 11, owned by his father, Dr. Bovaird, Brampton; two, Princess of Lexonville, ridden by Wendy Rogers, Thornhill, owned by C. Ruby; three, Daviburn Faye, owned and ridden by Donna Martinez; four, Teddy ridden by John Woolley, owned by Oak Ridges Riding club.

Pony hunter hack, John Reid and Sons trophy presented by Mrs. Reid; first, Trigger, ridden by Kenneth Bovaird, owned by Dr. Bovaird; two, Sheila, ridden by Penny Slipp, owned by Cusack, Cookville; three, Sweet Talk, ridden by Deborah Cuthbert, owned by John Woolley; four, Judy, ridden by Pauline Paul, Richvale, owned by Ridges Riding club.

Pleasure horse, E. L. McCarron trophy, presented by Mrs. McCarron; first, Fashion Parade, owned and ridden by Beverly Rogers, Thornhill; Aghavrin, ridden by Faye Russell, owned by Mrs. A. Robinson, Newmarket; three, Avarus, ridden by Katherine Gunn, owned by Oak Ridges Junior club; four, Sheila, ridden by Suzanne New, Oakville, owned by Cusack.

Large pony jumper, Merry Mount Stables trophy presented by Mrs. D. Duke, Toronto; first, Sheila, ridden by Beverly Rogers, owned by J. Cusack; second, Sweet Talk, ridden by Deborah Cuthbert, owned by Oak Ridges Junior Riding club; three, Clover, ridden by Katherine Gunn, owned by Oak Ridges club.

Combination class, Alfred E. Patchell, trophy presented by Mrs. R. F. Paul, Richvale; first, Daviburn Faye, Donna Martinez; second, Burlington Bertie by Penny Slipp owned by Cusack; third, Tiny Lady, ridden by Billy Bovaird owned by Dr. Bovaird; Saddle pony class, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Woolley trophy presented by Mrs. Woolley; first, Sir Charles, ridden by Clayton Ruby, age nine, owned by Ruby; second, Tiny Lady, ridden by Billy Bovaird, owned by Dr. Bovaird; third, Daphne, ridden by Anne Rowe, owned by Oak Ridges Junior Riding club; fourth, Dapples Dandy Daviburn, owned and ridden by Donna Martinez.

Pony jumper class, under 13.2 hands, low jumps, trophy by Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Woolley, presented by M. Hawman; first, Burlington, ridden by Penny Slipp, Cookville; second, Princess of Lexonville, ridden by Teddy Rogers, owned by Ruby; third, Teddy, ridden by John Woolley, owned by Oak Ridges club; Dapples Dandy Daviburn, owned and ridden by Donna Martinez.

Lions Presentation

An interesting feature was the presentation of a $70 cheque to Miss Marilyn Hawman in the interests of the Oak Ridges club, made by Chas. L. Stephenson on behalf of Oak Ridges Lions.

During the show, the use of Dr. D. R. Gunn's loud speaker and record player proved useful. The record playing, all of it old country march music, was handled by Ross Gunn and David Harrison. Miss D. Duke, Toronto, was results tabulator.

Lucky Draws

The lucky draw prizes, all given by local and district donors, were of exceptional value. The Canadian Horse Magazine gave three extra subscriptions. Two of these were won by Mrs. Frank Wilkins, Oak Ridges, and her grandson, Carl Archibald, King, with Mrs. Stan Rule, Oak Ridges, winning the third subscription.

The mantle radio donated by Oak Ridges Riding club went to L. Collison, Nobels; the mirror from Oak Ridges Glass Co. to Mary G. Cole, Markham; the large hamper of groceries donated by Wood Groceries to Mrs. Harry Rule; dressed ham, donated by Alex Gallagher, went to Chas. Burnett, Bond Lake.

A motor blanket in a case from Stout's Motors, Aurora, to Bert Archibald, King; set of towels from Fuller's Drygoods, to Nels Anderson, Oak Ridges; box of chocolates from Fallis, Aurora, to R. J. Storey, Toronto; E. C. Hawman car robe to Jack Cusack, Cookville.

Mrs. George Gourlay had a birthday on Sunday. To her it meant helping out a neighbor who had been ill.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bingham with their children Gary and Bonnie Jean visited Mrs. Bingham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elias Bice at King.

Several of Oak Ridges Lions club visited Mr. Grant McCachen who is ill in Sunnybrook hospital. They were glad to find Mr. McCachen is improving.

Mr. J. J. Wall has installed a service line from King water mains to the house of Mrs. H. H. Newsome. The distance was 150 feet. The longest service he has put in was 1,650 feet from the fourth concession to the Vern Simpson buildings, north of the village.

Mr. Claude Marshall flew his Cornell plane on Sunday to the new air-port located between Galt and Preston. Built by the Royal Canadian Flying Club Association, it is one of the finest on the continent. The air-ways are said to have cost more than $500,000. It is built to government specifications with assistance granted to the association. While not completely finished, it draws hundreds of spectators on weekends.

Mr. Marshall, who is a member of the R.C.F. Club Association, hopes to find a site to build the air-strips for his own planes. He was 40 minutes making the return flight of 80 miles on Sunday.

Bert, Ronnie and Carl Archibald of King spent Saturday and Sunday with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilkins. They took in the Junior Horse Show on Saturday.

Mrs. Linda Dow, mother of four children, lost a valuable dog from poisoned meat on Saturday. Hers was one to have earlier escaped the poison epidemic at Lake Wilcox.

Mr. Al Marquis, Fergus Ave., all but lost his fine spaniel dog on Sunday. A Richmond Hill veterinarian saved its life. Cottagers re-occupying their homes for the summer months were the name of Rowland Hill, whom Mr. Whitelaw employed as a clerk for four years. That clerk is now the Very Rev. Canon Rowland Hill, D.D., Dean of Peace River Cathedral. It looks like a safe bet that no other Aurora merchant at any time employed a clerk who subsequently became a doctor of divinity.

The Very Rev. Dean does not forget the march of time. For frequently Mr. Whitelaw meets his former clerk at Hart House, whom the latter always introduces his former employer to friends as "the Chief".

Grand-daughter Judy

Twenty-three years ago Mr. Whitelaw was secretary of the Aurora Business Men's Association, which the late J. M. Walton and other business men revived after the former Aurora Board of Trade folded up. The Association had an active and most useful co-operative membership of 60. For five years Mr. Whitelaw remained its secretary. Since the formation of the present Board of Trade he has continued in membership.

Forty-four years ago "B.G." married Lena Bolton, and they have enjoyed an increasing happiness through the long years. They now rejoice in their grand-daughter, Judy, aged two and a half years, daughter of Doris and Paul Myra. "I get from Judy what I missed from my own daughter when years of

The "clean-up" project adopted by the Ratepayers' Association has had definite action. The usual spring cleaning common to any piece of property, has value not only in dollars and cents. It brings its own reward in producing a well kept community, enjoyed by its residents and admired by visitors. It adds prestige to a municipality and is a morale booster for adults and children.

OIL MAKES A COUNTRY STRONG

WHEN DID THEY OPEN UP THE WEST?

The "opening up of the west" didn't end when the railroads and the settlers and the wheat had come. Nor is it ended today. It is a continuing story of our country's growth and each generation adds its chapter.

Today it is prairie oil that holds out new opportunity, bringing with it new benefits and new security.

In four years discoveries in the west have increased Canada's proven oil reserves more than fifteen fold and the production of crude is six times what it was. These advances, and the half-billion dollars the oil industry has spent on them, have not benefited the west alone. All of Canada is stronger and more prosperous.

Our people and our factories have been made busier by the needs of the growing oil industry. There are new jobs and new businesses. Many millions of dollars once spent for foreign oil now stay at home—or are available for other purposes. And of special importance, our supply of oil is being made more certain, less dependent on sources beyond our borders.

Opening up of the west goes on, bringing closer Canada's self-sufficiency in oil, giving new strength to the nation.

About Canada's Oil

Imperial has drilled more than 1,000 wells in western Canada searching for and developing oil fields.

The oil industry is expected to spend about $4 millions a week on exploration and development in western Canada this year.

By replacing imports, production from Canada's new oil fields is expected to save 150 million U.S. dollars in 1951.
